Y. M. C. A.

The special program of the Y. M. C. A. was well attended Tuesday morning, April 28. After the singing of a couple of songs by the Association, Cole Yelsley led the devotion, reading Psalm CII. A vocal solo, "How Lovely Are Thy Dwellings" was given by William Hugh, accompanied by Vernon Barrett at the piano. This was followed by a piano solo, "Falling Waters," played by Marvin Westfall. Floyd Harvey gave an interesting discussion on "The Origin of the Bible," in which he took up a history of the Bible and showed its development up to its present form.

The Bearcat track team which Coach Lawrence took to the Drake Relays last week did not succeed in winning a place in that meet.

The motley-relay team, composed of Paul Robey, "Dixie" Davenport, John Smith and Frank Crane placed fourth in the slow heat of that event. Denton Peoples did not place in the hop, step, and jump.

Mrs. Glenn's mother, who has been visiting here, left last Monday for her home in Washington, D. C.

Among the out of town visitors here during track meet were:

Miss Calla Varner, a former instructor here, having assisted in the history department, now Superintendent of Junior College at St. Joseph.

Fred Vandersloot, a former student who is now principal of Benton High School at St. Joseph.

Lillian James, a former student, who is teaching at St. Joseph.

Mr. Daley, a former teacher here, having assisted in the history and education department.

Y. W. C. A.

At the meeting of the Y. W. C. A. Tuesday, April 28, the Association decided to send two representatives to Estes Park, a summer training camp for Christian workers. On the program Tuesday was an opening song, followed by devotional, led by Nellie Hall, who read the first Psalm. Leta Babb sang "My Task." The rest of the program was taken up by a discussion of the "Boy and Girl" Question.

Mr. Glenn's father and Mr. and Mrs. John Arnold, from Holton, Kansas, spent the week-end in Maryville.

NEWMAN CLUB.

An informal program was presented last Tuesday morning at the regular meeting of the Newman Club. Christine Goff sang several vocal solos accompanied by Esther Monk; Carlos Yehle played several piano solos. After the program a short business meeting was held.

Mr. Cook will deliver an address at Graham Monday night. It is a consolidated school and he will talk to the graduates of that township.

Miss Dykes spent Saturday in St. Joseph.

hurdles, shot put, and running broad jump.

Ungles, of Maitland, is a good little track man. He runs the 100, 220, and 440-yard dashes all in fast time. He was individual high point scorer of the 1924 meet. The only record he has broken on the Maryville track is Dav-enport's time of 54 2-5 seconds for the 440-yard dash which he lowered to 53.8 seconds.

Ungles is also a basket-ball player as well. He was a star player of Maitland's team which in 1924 won the state tournament and represented Missouri in the National Tournament at Chicago.

Wilcox of Liberty, is a flash on the short dashes. He now holds the record to both the 100 and 220-yard events. In 1922 he established the record of 23 1/2 seconds for the 220-yard dash but lowered that to 22.8 at the last meet. In the 100-yard dash he broke Neldorp's record of 19 1-5 seconds which has stood since 1913, lowering it 1-5 of a second. It is probable that these two records will stand for some time to come.

Several other athletes participated in the meet upon whose feats of strength, cleverness, and speed one could wax eloquent, but space forces its limitations.

However, this article would not be complete did we not mention the performance of one athlete who participated in the girls' meet. The girl is Bernice Hale of Eagleville. The laurels she annexed were the gold medals for the 60 and 70 yard dashes, the low hurdles, and broad jump and the cup for the individual winner. Among these should be mentioned the cup for the school winning the meet as well, since it was Miss Hale's work which won that trophy for Eagleville, she making 20 of the 22 points which gave that school first place.

Miss Hale won more first places than any athlete in the boys' meet or anyone in the contests.

Second Prize Essay

what the government is—a compromise; it was founded on compromises and has been maintained by them. Indeed, life itself is made up of compromises; the rights of others have to be considered always. In this light the problem of your violation of the law is solved.

A short prison sentence was pronounced and the case dismissed. The guilty man, now convinced and enlightened, walked slowly and thoughtfully away with the guard. His personal anger had died away. Submissively he fell into step with this great world of compromise.

Miss Dykes sent out about 40 letters during the past week to the senior students who expect to graduate by the end of the summer term. The letters contained information concerning the Commencement programs and instructions about the ordering of caps and gowns.

IS VOCATIONAL TRAINING IN THE HIGH SCHOOL PRACTICAL?

The tremendous importance of properly feeding a family is little realized by those whom it should most concern. However, if high school girls take advantage of the privileges offered them through vocational training in Home Economics, to provide the family needs and solve its food problems, they are not only better prepared for advanced study of the problems but they are more interested in helping solve the most difficult ones. The manner in which the fundamental principles of family feeding have been grasped by some of these vocational girls was demonstrated at the High School contests held at the College last week. The six vocational groups, of two girls each, ran a close race for the silver cup and all were tactful in their systematic management, in spite of the disadvantages arising from lack of laboratory equipment and kitchens, ideal in arrangement.

Trenton's part in the contest was of especial interest. Plates were laid for a "family" of five; namely, "father," "mother," "son of sixteen," "daughter of three," and "grandmother." Attractive flowers in harmony with the color scheme centered the table. The "family" started the meal with a variety fruit cocktail. Then the "father" served four of the plates with Swiss steak, potatoes, brown gravy and creamed asparagus tips. The fifth plate, containing a baked potato, creamed asparagus tips and a slice of crisp toast, "he" passed to the "mother" who, having opened, buttered and seasoned the potato, said, "This is for the 'baby.'" The four older members also had bread, butter and cabbage salad.

The individual needs of the "family" were portrayed by the serving. The "boy of sixteen" was given more than either the "father" or "mother," which of course was necessary for a person of "his" age and activity. The "grandmother" was served with less than the "mother," for "her" exercise was slight, and the "baby" had a glass of whole milk to drink. All the members were served with caramel and nut tapoca for dessert.

As the result of careful menu-planning, wise selection of food, attention to individual needs, the simplest plan of organization and quiet preparation, the ease of playing the parts of "host" and "hostess," the artistic touches and attractive service, the Trenton girls won the silver cup. Maryville came out a close second with only one-half point difference in score but the various personal touches of each team emphasized the worth of the training which these girls are receiving in the High Schools. College girls going out into schools to teach the vocational Home Economics courses should give their all and their best to such girls who are willing to stand their training by the side of that of girls from neighboring schools.

The Stroller

By ???

Well, the Stroller has just had a nap. He had just read a note about a Harvard man who has discovered that lazy students can be hypnotized into winning Phi Beta Kappa keys, writing poems, and doing other hitherto impossible things. This man suggests—or at least a commenting editor draws the conclusion—that whenever a student was thought to be getting lazy, he would be put to sleep for a few hours. The Stroller has grave suspicions that he is getting lazy, so he is going to try the rest cure, and if he can get himself into a hypnotic state he may be able to fill his column even in the laziest spring fever days when, as the demonstration school poet says, "We feel as dumb as everything."

The Stroller begins to feel a little shaky about her position since she heard that a certain faculty member is applying to the management of the Green and White Courier. Miss Helwig dreamed the other night that she was to have charge of the Green and White. Interpreting dreams as unexpressed desires, the Stroller feels that Miss Helwig must want a position and the Stroller would feel shaky if she got it, as she just cannot make a grade in math, and having such a reputation in Miss Helwig's class he might have a hard time convincing her that he has brains enough to write this most entertaining section of the Courier.

He has been having more or less trouble convincing Miss Dykes that he ought to have a grade. He has been cutting class and one day he even cut assembly. Now that he has a special seat in the auditorium reserved for his own private use, he thinks perhaps he will stop such nonsense, as failing to be in his proper place at the proper time.

Speaking of being in the proper place at the proper time, is it proper for a full-grown senior to get four ice-cream cones at one time and go down the street licking them? She did it any way!

Short courses are here with a vengeance, 219 of them. No wonder there is such a rush and flurry. The excitement affected even Robert Birbeck! Last Wednesday morning in English 140, Miss Lowery was having the class name a list of lyric poems about birds. Such poems as "To a Skylark," "To a Waterlily," and others had been named. Robert waved his hand wildly. When called upon to recite he said, "Flower in the Crannied Wall." Fearing that he might giggle, the Stroller slipped out at the door and since then has been looking for the bird.

Thirty-nine high schools in Central Missouri entered track and field teams for the annual track and field meet held at Warrensburg, Mo. This made a total of about 500 athletes entered. In addition to those entered in track and field events, 281 contestants were classified in the other contests. This is the largest number ever entered in track and field meet and in the other contests.

Mr. Miller has received a letter from Mr. E. C. Beck of the faculty of Peru, Nebraska, College in which Mr. Beck expresses his appreciation for the courtesy shown the members of the Peru College faculty who acted as judges for the Public Speaking contests during the track meet.

31. Hallelujah! Chorus

The theme of the "Messiah" is the foreshadowing, the advent, the sufferings and the final triumph of the Christ.

The libretto is made up of the literal text of the Scriptures and represents the development of the Christian plan of salvation.

The first part of the work voices the longing of the world for its Redeemer, beginning with the words of Isaiah, "Comfort ye, my people, saith your God," and ending in the birth of Christ, with the invitation to "Come unto me, for my yoke is easy and my burden is light."

The second part describes the suffering of the Messiah, closing with his victory over the grave, and ascension into Heaven, expressed in the greatest of all choral numbers, the Hallelujah Chorus.

Particular attention is called to the closing chorus of the second part of the triumph of the work, "Hallelujah." After listening to its performance one can understand Handel's words: "I did think I did see all Heaven before me, and the great God himself." At the first performance in 1743 the whole audience with the King at its head, arose and remained standing to the close of this chorus. THIS CUSTOM IS UNIVERSAL AND ALWAYS OBSERVED, AND IT IS HOPED WILL NOT BE FORGOTTEN AT THIS PERFORMANCE.

The audience will kindly refrain from applause until after the closing number.

H. S. Tournament

A very successful tennis tournament was held April 24-25, in spite of the rain and bad weather. All of the girls' matches were played in the High School Gymnasium, and all the boys' singles were in the west gymnasium at the College.

Some fast matches were played in the boys' singles tournament. The scores were so close in most cases that no one could predict the final outcome.

The most interesting and exciting match of the tourney was between the players from Albany and St. Joseph Central. Two of the best contestants participated. Albany won the first set with a score of (6-4); Central took the second set with the same score. The third and deciding set was a fight to the finish. First one man would get the advantage, then the other. The same brand of tennis was used by each player. Both players had consistent serves, and returns, and the balls were played close to the boundary lines. The referees had a hard job calling them. The fastest was played twice, and finally the players from Albany took the lead and won the match. The last set was chalked at (8-6).

A boy from Eagleville, small in stature, showed that he knew tennis by winning all matches to the final round. He was defeated by the Albany player in the finals. The medal was awarded to Saunders of Albany.

The men's doubles were much slower than the singles, because part of them were played inside. The final round was an interesting match between St. Joseph Central and Ridge-way. The St. Joseph boys had the advantage and won the three sets in succession. They were awarded a banner as being champions in the doubles tournament.

The girls' singles was a tournament featured with extra good playing. All matches ended with close scores.

Margaret Letts of St. Joseph Central, by virtue of defeating Trenton in the final round, was declared champion in the girls' singles class, and was awarded a medal.

The girls' doubles were won by Albany when they defeated Bethany in the final round.

Good tennis was shown throughout the entire tournament. Real sportsmanship was a predominant feature of all the games, and all the players are to be commended.

Jeannie Blacklock, who finishes her work for the B. S. degree at the end of the spring quarter, has accepted a position to teach French and English in the high school in Dickinson, North Dakota.

"MIZZOU."

'Tis spring again in my fair land,
The sky is clear and blue;
My heart is filled with joy, because
'Tis spring in old "Mizzou."

'Tis spring and birds their carols sing,
The flowers are blooming, too;
My soul is praising God for spring,
A spring in old "Mizzou."

'Tis spring, the merry south-west wind,
Just thrills me through and through;
What joy they've missed, who never spent
A spring in old "Mizzou."

'Tis spring, folks travel here and there
A land they want that's new;
They need to know the pleasure of
A spring in old "Mizzou."

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

The short course class in rural woodwork under the supervision of Oren Masters, is progressing nicely. For the past week they have been working on the construction of a milk box. The majority of the class will be ready to start on another project in a few days.

Ernest Daniels is teaching a new Industrial Arts course which has never been offered to short course students before. This is a beginning class of boys and girls who are very industrious; in fact, several of the girls have already finished bread or cake boards, and one boy is starting on an oak music cabinet.

During the tournament the classes had a notable display of wood-turning in the cases on second floor. The outstanding articles were a walnut davenport table made by Ernest Daniels, and an Inlaid Radiola cabinet belonging to Earl Hollar. Besides these two, several candle sticks, lamps, churrlids, darning eggs, mallet handles, chisel handles and some equipment for the school are all worthy of mentioning.

Mrs. Wilda Spencer Goode, instructor at Drake University, who acted as Judge of the plays in the contests, was entertained while in Maryville by Miss McClanahan. Miss McClanahan lived at the home of Mr. Goode while taking her school work in Chicago.

Mrs. Goode was very much interested in the rapid progress being made at the college and also expressed her appreciation of the courteous and gracious attitude of President and Mrs. Larkin and the faculty toward her during her stay at the College.

J. W. Hake has left for Moberly where he will spend several days visiting her parents, the Rev. Mr. Harper and Mrs. Harper.
